The webinar link will be sent to your email address before the event.

The event will be the follow up of the webinar on 31 January, 2023 and the webinar on 13 July, 2023 where practitioners shared best practices on how trends of hatred could be countered through dialogue, how dialogue could be used for settling conflicts despite huge divides in the values and views and what are the benefits and disadvantages of dialogue in daily policy making.

The participants of both webinars also learned the motivations and the objectives of the initiative to establish the “Alliance for Dialogue” which will make efforts for institutionalization of dialogue in decision making procedures at both multilateral and national levels.

During this event former senior officials in the UN, OSCE and ICGLR will share their views and experience in using dialogue for addressing sustainably the challenges, in particular the pursuit of human rights and the risks of extreme crimes when shaping an inclusive multipolar world and multilateral system.

The participants will be offered the possibility to also express their views on the establishment of the “Alliance for Dialogue” and institutionalization of dialogue.
